PART 2

Questions 6–10

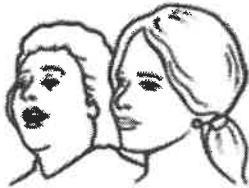

- The people below all want to go to the cinema.
- On the opposite page there are descriptions of eight films.
- Decide which film (letters A–H) would be the most suitable for each person or people (numbers 6–10).
- For each of these numbers mark the correct letter on your answer sheet.

6

Jo is studying art at university. She usually goes to the cinema on Friday evenings. She enjoys films that are based on real life and from which she can learn something.

7

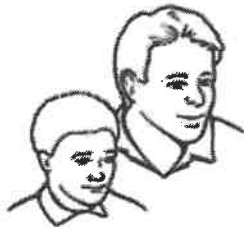

Sheila has decided to take her mother to the cinema for her birthday. They both like love stories that have happy endings.

8

Brian is a hard-working medical student. He doesn't have very much free time, but he likes going to the cinema to relax, and enjoys a good laugh.

9

Adam wants to take his 8-year-old son Mark to the cinema at the weekend. They want to see a film with plenty of excitement.

10

Harry and Joyce go to the cinema about twice a month. They particularly like detective stories and do not pay much attention to which actors are in the film.

A The Delivery

Jim Treace stars in this well-known comedy about two workmen who have to deliver a long piece of wood to a house. But unfortunately the performances are poor, and the film is too long for such a simple joke.

B And Tomorrow We Find You

A fast-moving adult story about a San Francisco policeman in danger. Based on a real-life happening, it keeps you guessing right until the last minute. Although there are no big stars, there are some fine performances.

C The Ends of the Earth

A story based on a real-life journey to the South Pole. This film contains some quite wonderful wildlife photography – make sure you see it while you have the chance, or you'll be sorry.

D Island of Fire

You get spectacular scenery and lots of thrills in this action-packed story, in which a young sea-captain rescues terrified villagers from a volcanic island in the South Seas.

E Out of School

Here we live through a day in the life of an American teenager who has problems not only with his parents and their boring friends but also with his first girlfriend who just doesn't seem to understand him.

F A Time of Silence

Don't forget your handkerchief for this story of a young college boy and girl who manage to survive all the pressures of modern life. And what an unforgettable wedding scene!

G A Private Party

A wonderfully funny comedy, which takes place in the 1940s. A reporter and his very worried wife try to save a sheep from the local butcher. The actors really make the most of this clever script.

H Who Shot Malone?

It's a surprise to see so many famous names wasting their time in this dull detective story. In the end you find yourself asking, 'Who cares?'

PART 3

Questions 21-25

- Read the text and questions below.
- For each question, mark the letter next to the correct answer – A, B, C or D – on your answer sheet.

A month ago I had no idea that on a Saturday afternoon in November I'd be hanging 30 metres above the ground and enjoying it. Now I looked down at the river far below me, and realised why people love rock-climbing.

My friend Matt and I had arrived at the Activity Centre on Friday evening. The accommodation wasn't wonderful, but we had everything we needed (beds, blankets, food), and we were pleased to be out of the city and in the fresh air.

On Saturday morning we met the other ten members of our group. Cameron had come along with two friends, Kevin and Simon, while sisters Carole and Lynn had come with Amanda. We had come from various places and none of us knew the area.

We knew we were going to spend the weekend outdoors, but none of us was sure exactly how. Half of us spent the morning caving while the others went rock-climbing and then we changed at lunchtime. Matt and I went to the caves first. Climbing out was harder than going in, but after a good deal of pushing, we were out at last – covered in mud but pleased and excited by what we'd done.

- 21 What is the writer trying to do in the text?
- A advertise the Activity Centre
 - B describe some people she met
 - C explain how to do certain outdoor sports
 - D say how she spent some free time
- 22 What can the reader learn from the text?
- A when to depend on other people at the Centre
 - B how to apply for a place at the Centre
 - C what sort of activities you can experience at the Centre
 - D which time of year is best to attend the Centre

23 How do you think the writer might describe her weekend?

- A interesting
- B relaxing
- C frightening
- D unpleasant

24 What do we learn about the group?

- A Some of them had been there before.
- B They had already chosen their preferred activities.
- C Some of them already knew each other.
- D They came from the same city.

25 Which of the following advertisements describes the Activity Centre?

A

ACTIVITY CENTRE

THE FIRST WOMAN SCIENTIST

Hypatia was (0) in Alexandria, in Egypt, in 370 A.D. For many centuries she was (26) only woman scientist to have a place in the history books.

Hypatia's father was director of Alexandria University, and he (27) sure his daughter had the best education available. This was unusual, as most women then had few (28) to study.

After studying in Athens and Rome, Hypatia returned to Alexandria (29) she began teaching mathematics. She soon became famous (30) her knowledge of new ideas.

We have no copies of her books, (31) we know that she wrote several important mathematical works. Hypatia was also interested in technology and (32) several scientific tools to help with her work.

At the (33) many rulers were afraid of science, and (34) connected with it was in danger. One day in March 415, Hypatia (35) attacked in the street and killed.

Biletul nr. 10

Read the following text and answer the questions:

If you feel tired all the time, you'll be glad to hear that you're not alone. In a recent survey, students said that they were too tired. Here are some facts about what can make you feel tired and what you can do to avoid it. You may think that lying in bed until 12 o'clock at the weekend is good for you but you are wrong. Your biological clock tells you when you are tired. A particular chemical is responsible for waking you up. It starts to work from 3 or 4 am until 11 am. If you sleep any later than this, you prevent the chemical from working, which in turn prevents you from feeling wide awake. Human beings are not like some animals. We are supposed to be awake during the day and asleep at night. Most lights in our houses are brighter than they should be. Doctors say that the brain gets confused as it thinks you should be wide awake when you should really be fast asleep.

1. Is it good for you to sleep until 12 at the weekend? Why?
2. What, according to the text, happens when you sleep later than 11 am?
3. When are humans supposed to sleep?
4. What do doctors say about bright lights in our houses?
5. Motivate your interest for the Erasmus mobility.

Read the following text and answer the questions:

A huge explosion is taking place at this very moment. You can't hear it. But it's more powerful than any other explosion in history. It's an explosion of knowledge. In fact, if you are 14 years old, more knowledge has been gained in your lifetime than in all the previous history of the earth. Two tools have contributed greatly to this knowledge explosion. They have helped to develop knowledge and they have helped to put it to use. These tools are the computer and the laser. Now they seem indispensable, yet they hardly existed when your parents were young. The computer is one of the most important developments of this century and it has come a long way since it first appeared. In fact, the first computer, built in the 1940s, weighed 30 tons and filled a large room. Today, a small personal computer can do more jobs than that 30-ton giant. Yet some are smaller than a big book.

1. What kind of explosion does the text mention?
2. What was the weight of the first computer?
3. How have the computer and laser contributed to this explosion?
4. Could you live without your computer? Why(not)?
5. Motivate your interest for the Erasmus mobility.

Read the following text and answer the questions:

Australia is a huge land mass on the other side of the world from Europe. A jumbo jet takes about 21 hours to get there! It is in the southern hemisphere between the Indian and Pacific oceans. Being the only large piece of land in the continent of Australasia, it is sometimes considered a continent itself. Together with the state of Tasmania, it is the world's smallest continent. It is almost as big as the USA, and is about 25 times bigger than Britain and Ireland. It is also the flattest, the driest and the lowest of all continents. It is a land of great contrasts. Its climate ranges from hot and tropical in the north, to cool and wet in the south. The inland region is called the outback, a huge dry area where cattle and sheep graze, and wild animals such as kangaroos and emus live. Very few people live there and life is very isolated.

1. Where is Australia?
2. How big is Australia?
3. Why do very few people live in the outback?
4. Would you like to live in Australia? Why (not)?
5. Motivate your interest for the Erasmus mobility.

Read the following text and answer the questions:

Yesterday police were joined by more than 20 volunteers in the continuing search for the two missing teenagers, Vicky Gray and Tom Hunter, and their guide, Gavin Jones. The police said that they had disappeared during an adventure tour to Cape York Peninsula. This was the second day of the search and the police are now very concerned for the safety of the three missing people. The police said that the search had covered a wide area, but the rain forest was thick and their work was made more difficult by the recent rain. The three travellers left Cooktown very early on Saturday Morning in a Toyota land cruiser. They took a small dirt road that runs down a dangerous river full of crocodiles. Chief Inspector Fleet said that the tourists wouldn't have got into trouble if they had stayed on the main road.

1. How many people were missing?
2. What made the police work difficult?
3. Why did the tourists get into trouble?
4. Have you ever got lost?

Read the following text and answer the questions:

It all began in Atlanta, Georgia in 1885. Dr John S. Pemberton, a pharmacist, was not an ordinary chemist. He did not like selling drugs but he enjoyed making them. And he was very good at it! One day one of his friends asked him to create a new refreshing “family” drink, without alcohol. He started working hard on a secret mixture. The first drink he made was a delicious wine containing cola extracts, then he decided to cut out the wine but keep the cola-nut for energy. He spent several years working on different potions. He mixed together cola-nut extract, cola leaves, caffeine, sugar, vegetable extracts and other ingredients to make his secret formula, and decided to make his recipe a secret so that nobody would ever know the ingredients! In May 1886, he created a new mixture, and by adding some carbonated water to it, made it taste fantastic!

1. Who was John S. Pemberton and where did he live?
2. What was he good at?
3. Why did he start working on a new drink?
4. What were the different steps in the creation of the new drink?
5. Motivate your interest for the Erasmus mobility.

Read the following text and answer the questions:

When he lost his flat, writer CJ Stone decided to “go on the road”. Here’s his story.

I didn’t wake up one morning and say to myself, “I think I’ll go and live in a van.” It was more accidental than that. First of all I lost my flat and then, at the same time, I discovered I needed a new engine for my car. That meant that I would have to spend 1,000 pounds to get the car back on the road. I suddenly found that I needed, first, somewhere to live and, second, something to travel around in. I was trying to decide what to do when I saw the advertisement: “Converted ambulance for sale, 1,600 pounds”. So I rang the number in the ad and arranged to go and see it. It was love at first sight! I made my decision straight away. Two days later I was the proud owner of a two-litre Ford Transit converted into a camper van.

1. What is CJ Stone’s job?
2. Where does he live?
3. Why did he choose to live there?
4. What does he think of it?
5. Motivate your interest for the Erasmus mobility.

Read the following text and answer the questions:

When I was a child, homework was the cause of many arguments between my parents. My mother believed that homework was the only way for us to make progress. My father, on the other hand, thought we should have learnt everything we needed to know while we were in school. It is true to say that most students don't want to know anything about homework. As a result of recent research, many experts believe that homework is a complete waste of time, especially when many children appear to get their homework done by someone else. In fact, some people say that the only positive result of giving homework is that children become very creative in finding new excuses for not having done it. Moreover, students have already found ways to get their computers to do their homework for them.

1. What was the cause for many arguments between the author's parents?
2. What is the opinion of the author's mother about homework?
3. Why do experts believe that homework is a waste of time?
4. Do you like homework? How do you do it?

Read the following text and answer the questions:

One characteristic that an actor usually needs is good looks and Ashley Judd is very pretty. Hollywood actresses, though, are not usually famous for being brainy. Ashley has both beauty and brains and is proud of her success at the University of Kentucky. Ashley was born in San Francisco in 1969. Her father left soon after she was born and her mother was a struggling singer who moved so often that Ashley went to twelve different schools in thirteen years. When she was 16, her mum and sister signed a contract with a large record company. They sold 15 million albums, which made Ashley famous while she was still studying at school. She was always independent and wanted to be an actress rather than follow in her mother's footsteps. After leaving university, she went to Los Angeles and found work in television. Then came roles in "Ruby in Paradise", "A Time to Kill and Smoke" and "Heat".

1. What does an actor need, according to the text?
2. Why did Ashley go to twelve different schools?
3. When did Ashley's life as a teenager change?
4. Would you like to be an actor/actress?

Alison decided to go hill walking. She didn't tell anyone where she planned to go. When she reached the top of the first hill she looked for her map. She thought she had packed it in her jacket pocket but it wasn't there. Suddenly a thick fog came down over the hills and she couldn't see anything. She tried to find her way home, but she kept coming back to the same place. She was beginning to get very frightened. As she was stumbling along in the fog, her foot went down a hole. It hurt terribly and she fainted. She had broken her ankle. Back at home Alison's flatmate, Serena, was getting worried. It was dark and Alison still hadn't come home. Serena was afraid something had happened to her friend. At ten o'clock Serena rang the mountain rescue service. When Alison woke up it was light and she was freezing cold. She realised she had been there all night. She heard a helicopter and she waved and shouted for help, but it was useless.

1. Why did Alison get lost?
2. Who was Alison's flatmate?
3. Who did Serena ring? Why?

Welcome to Backpackerland! Once you've left the airport you find yourself a cheap hostel and sleep badly because it's hot, much hotter than it was when you left home, and you haven't paid enough for an air-conditioned room. Besides, there's the noise of the busy street and some crazy tourist playing a harmonica all night. On top of that you're jet-lagged because you've crossed two time zones at least. All your worst nightmares have come true, but you don't care, because this is an adventure and you aren't at home anymore. In the morning you feel exhausted but more alive than you have for years. You go out on to the street and have your first cup of coffee. Everywhere there are foreign vehicles, strange smells, different colours and people wearing different clothes. As you look up and down the street you see more and more people just like yourself – but they've been here for at least three days.

1. Why do you sleep badly?
2. Why don't you care, even if your worst nightmares have come true?
3. Do you like going backpacking?
4. What do you think is Backpackerland?

What is New York City? It's the Big Apple, a fantastic skyline; it's dangerous streets, it's hustle-bustle, flash and dance, and it's lots of energy! And most of all, New York is more than seven million people that call it home...New York is where Justin, 14, lives and goes to school. He lives in the heart of the city, Manhattan, and he loves it! "I think New York is a great place to live in – there's always something to do. There are always hundreds of movies, old and new, theatres and good museums and it never stops being on the move. Everywhere you look, you can see people rushing to work, shoppers hurrying from one department store to the other, and the yellow cab drivers going like crazy. There are street performers and rappers dancing in parks or along the streets, elegant business people in dark clothes, and homeless and poor people living in shelters and begging on the streets."

1. Where is the heart of New York?
2. Why does Justin think that "New York is a great place to live in" ?
3. How does the author describe New York?

What exactly do computers do? They store huge amounts of information and process it in a very short time. They analyse and organise the information and they can provide a computer operator with answers to almost any problem. Like the computer, the laser has also become a vital tool in today's world. Laser beams do important jobs in science, industry and medicine. Laser lights cut, mend, guide, transmit, measure, and vaporize. Laser beams can measure the distance of far-away planets or clean particles of dirt from precious oil paintings. A single beam can transmit a million kilowatts of laser power in a pulse. With the help of these two tools, scientists are developing new ways to build things, to produce energy, to improve means of travel and communication, to fight diseases and to learn more about space. Almost too fast to imagine, science is changing our world.

2. What can lasers do?
3. In what way is science changing our world?

The game of football began in England in the middle of the 19th century. But the Chinese played a game like football over 2,000 years ago. Before there were rules, it was very violent and dangerous. There was no limit on the numbers of players and there was always a lot of fighting. In 1863 The Football Association was formed to bring rules to the game. Since then, millions have played football, making it the world's most popular spectator sport. It is strongest in Europe and South America, but it is popular in Africa as well, and is now played also by women; women's football is one of the fastest growing sports in the world. The World Cup is the most important trophy in international football. The contest takes place every four years at different locations around the world. The first competition was held in 1930 and the winner was Uruguay.

Raleigh College is one of the oldest public schools in London. It opened in the 1850s and was a boys' school. Now it is co-educational (both a boys' and a girls' school), even if there are few girls compared to boys. It is a very expensive boarding school and fees are more than 10,000 pounds a year. The classes are smaller than those of the average comprehensive school. The school has a lot of sports facilities – an outdoor swimming pool, a cricket ground, a football pitch, five tennis courts, a gym and equipment for fencing, shooting and archery. Teachers organise a lot of out-of-school activities: plays, concerts, sports, debates, music societies, visits to the opera and to the theatre, clubs for railway enthusiasts, cooking or painting.

2. What does co-educational mean?
